PRESTIGIOUS INTERNATIONAL ACCREDITATION FOR SENTOSA COVE

Sentosa Cove waterway re-accredited internationally as a Clean Marina

31 July 2015, Singapore – Sentosa Cove, Singapore’s only truly oceanfront residences and one of the most coveted luxurious residential properties in Asia, has been re-accredited the internationally recognised Clean Marina Level 3 by the Marina Industries Association (MIA).

The international recognition, which acknowledges the achievement of rigorous environmental management systems, was bestowed on this 117-hectare waterfront precinct for the second year, with the first being conferred in November 2011.

In a thorough audit process conducted by the MIA encompassing areas in environmental management, including processes for pump outs, hull cleaning, turbidity, emissions, management of wastewater and accidental spills, the Sentosa Cove waterways attained an outstanding result of 93%!

The International Clean Marina Programme is a voluntary, incentive-based education and outreach programme, focused on assisting marina industry operators in their endeavours to protect inland and coastal waterways. The programme for this accreditation encourages environmental compliance and use of the best management practices by marinas. The programme is supported in New South Wales (NSW) by the Department of Primary Industries, Department of the Environment and the NSW Environment Protection Authority (EPA) and in South Australia by the EPA.

“We take pride in ensuring that our waterways, which form an integral part of Sentosa Cove, is maintained at the highest standards,” said Catherine Chew, General Manager of Sentosa Cove Resort Management Pte. Ltd. “All this is possible with the dedication of our marina team, through regular checks, employment of ultrasonic devices to keep algae growth in check, as well as the implementation of sluices to manage the daily flushing regime brought about by tidal cycles. Indeed, these efforts have contributed to our progress toward being a world-class waterway,” she continued.

Being accredited for a second time, the certification recognises SCRM’s efforts to uphold the stringent standards placed by MIA, and continually strives towards creating a unique waterfront lifestyle in Sentosa Cove, with clean and tranquil waterways.
