Singapore, 2 September 2016 – Explorers, the young and young-at-heart, – pick an adventure on Sentosa this September! The State of Fun has lined up a series of adventure-themed activities, both indoors and outdoors, to bring out the fun and joy of discovery in a scenic island setting. Come 3 -12 September, a brand new outdoor escape challenge will be staged at Fort Siloso, a first for such an event at a historical site in Singapore.

Fun-S-Cape: A Mini-adventure Beckons

Dive into an adventure of wits and agility at Fun-S-Cape, an outdoor escape game held in Singapore's only preserved coastal fort, Fort Siloso. Fun-S-Cape offers the unique experience of allowing players of all ages to role-play and solve puzzles at six stations within this historical attraction. From a vertical 2.4m-tall ball maze to a strategy game within the tunnels, bring your family and friends to rediscover Fort Siloso again, prior to upgrading works commencing later this year.

Fun-S-Cape will also offer fringe activities to add a magical touch to the experience. The activities will be held from 11am – 6pm during the period of the escape challenge, and admission is free.

"Outdoor escape challenge are uncommon but increasingly popular in Singapore. We are pleased to work with local game designers to develop this one-of-a-kind outdoor escape challenge concept. By bringing together a unique location with station games that are interesting yet fun enough for everyone, we hope that everyone can have a memorable yet meaningful play session outdoors in a historical location - Singapore's only preserved coastal fort," said Ms Agatha Yap, Director of
